“ I miss you so much Rick! I'll never forget the winter morning you had to bring me to school. I was waiting in the car for you to close the garage door. You hit the button and ran out of the garage before the door closed and next thing I knew I saw your feet in the air. Total Charlie Brown flip We always had a good laugh about that. Also the time we were all at the kitchen table and you leaned back and the chair broke and you fell backwards in slow motion I'll miss hearing you tell those stories because it was funniest coming from you. I love you, may God rest your soul
